OCTOBER 2009

★INFO.....

First things first - Hopefully this isn't coming across as spam. You may have signed up at an art show or event for the newsletter, or perhaps I know you in person or came across your business card and added you to the list. I'll be mailing a newsletter periodically. If at any time you wish to be removed from the newsletter mailing list, reply to this e-mail or write to kate@kateaustin.net with "Unsubscribe" in the subject line.

What can kate e. austin teach YOU?

Good question, my friend. You're about to find out...

CLASSATHON!

Tuesday, October 27

Take one class – or a whole day!

How to Sell Your Artwork Online 2 p.m.

This beginner's class is for the artist or crafter who is finally ready to part with some of their work. We will cover everything you need to know to start up your own online business, including which websites to use, how to use them, describing your work, shop policies, promoting and more.

Intro to Chainmaille 4 p.m.

Learn the basics of chainmaille – where to purchase supplies and how to put together a stunning bracelet in your choice of colors! All materials are included in this class, and you will leave with a gorgeous piece of jewelry you have made yourself! Students are asked to bring two sets of pliers. As an added bonus, we will also learn to make “plarn” from plastic shopping bags. Additional $10 materials fee.

Exploring Mixed Media 6 p.m.

Learn what Yupo is and how to use gesso, inks, kosher salt, Windex, cheesecloth and plastic wrap to create stellar textured paintings in this demo and hands-on workshop. Additional $15 materials fee.

$20 per class. $35 for two. $50 for three.
